WILL BE GRAND ALL-DAY RALLY

At Hartford, on Thursday,
October 12th.

A FREE BARBECUED DINNER

For All—Gov. McCreary, A.O.
Stanley, John Rhea and
Ben Johnson

WILL BE ON HAND AND SPEAK

At a recent gathering of the McCreary Club of Hartford, which meets every Thursday night at Democratic headquarters in the front rooms over the drug store of the Hartford Drug Co., it was suggested that the Democrats of Ohio county have an all-day rally at Hartford at some near date in the future. It didn't take long for matters to take shape. A motion was made and carried that a petition be prepared to the Democratic State Executive Committee at Louisville, asking for notable speakers and requesting a date which would best suit circumstances here.

It was agreed that the speakers asked for should be Gov. Jas. B. McCreary, Hon. A. O. Stanley, Hon. Ben Johnson and Hon. John Rhea, and the date for the rally set for Thursday, October 12. A few days later two Democrats from Hartford went to Louisville, visited Democratic headquarters, bearing the letter of request, and were assured that the Democrats of Ohio county would certainly receive due consideration in the matter. Within a few days thereafter a letter was received here by County Chairman G. B. Likens, giving the glad information that the full request would be granted, both as to speakers and date, and that arrangements could be made accordingly. The affair then became a certainty and the public can rest assured that no detail will be lacking to make it the grandest political event that ever transpired in the county. Democrats from this and adjoining counties can meet and mingle together and be regaled with oratory from some of the most noted speakers of the country. Besides Messrs. McCreary, Stanley, Johnson and Rhea, there will in all likelihood be other noted personages and orators present, and it will be a time of general good cheer and rejoicing, long to be remembered.

The rally will begin early and last all day and there will probably be people here from twenty miles around. A free barbecued dinner will be served to the crowd, and the grounds will be prepared to entertain many thousands. It is intended to make it a grand love-feast, and a memorable day in every respect. There will be speaking both in the morning and afternoon by the gentlemen mentioned and perhaps others.

At a meeting of the McCreary Club last Thursday night the letter from the Executive Committee at Louisville was read and the body immediately got busy on arrangements for the grand rally. On motion, Judge J. S. Glenn, President and Chairman of the Club, proceeded to appoint committees to have charge of the details of the rally, so as to systematize the arrangements. The different precincts of the county will be called upon to donate such as they may feel able to give in the way of provisions or cash. Sheep, goats, hogs, or young cattle will be acceptable, either alive or dressed. Pits will be dug and the barbecuing process will begin several days before the day of the rally, so as to have everything ready. It has been suggested that where one man may not feel able to give a whole animal, two or three may join together in the gift. Experienced cooks will be employed to prepare the viands. After due consideration, the following gentlemen were appointed to act in their respective capacities:

General Committees.

HON. BEN JOHNSON TO STUMP STATE FOR TICKET

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—Congressman Ben Johnson, of Bardstown, who withdrew from the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor before the State primary was held, will begin an active campaign for the ticket next week. It was announced at Democratic headquarters last night that Congressman Johnson would make his first speech at Danville Monday, and that he will be assigned to several other places during October, it being his purpose to make as many speeches in the interest of the ticket as his duties at Washington will permit.

HARTFORD COLLEGE LECTURE LYCEUM IS ESTABLISHED

The Faculty and teachers of Hartford College have established what shall be known as the Hartford College Lecture Lyceum, a lecture and entertainment course for the season of 1911-12. Not all the entertainments will be lectures, but each will be of high class and especially beneficial to the student body and citizens of Hartford. The dates will be scattered throughout the winter and early spring, and the people of the town and vicinity are earnestly invited to support this very worthy enterprise. The dates and character of entertainment have been arranged as follows:

Capt. Richmond P. Hobson—October 3.

Ned Woodman, Humorist-Cartoonist—December 19.

Select Entertainers—February 10.

Waldon & Co., Magicians—March 6.

A. E. Wiggam, Crusade Lecturer, "Forty Kinds of Fools," etc.—March 29.

Sidney Landen, Lecturer—April 12.

The proceeds of the entertainments in excess of the expenses are to go for the improvement of Hartford College. Popular admission will be charged and season tickets can be purchased at reduced rates. This effort on the part of the College folks to provide both entertainment and improvement should be liberally patronized. It will not only do much good, but put us in touch with the best of refined and high-class entertainment of the day.

For Sale—Town property, vacant lots, cottages and two-story dwelling.

A PLAN OF THE REPUBLICANS Are Now Engaged in Frying the Fat Out of State Employees.

PLAYING A DESPERATE GAME

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 16.—The one or two curious Democrats who last night attended the meeting of the McCracken County O'Rear club were startled by a frank open statement made by Prof. Thomas W. Vinson, candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction on the Republican State ticket, who together with Capt. Carl Henderson, of Marion, is in charge of the branch Republican State campaign headquarters at the Palmer House here. Capt. Henderson, by the way, was in charge of the State militia that "preserved order" during the alleged night rider troubles in this section.

The statement referred to was made in answer to the request of Chairman Arthur Martin for a supply of Republican campaign handbooks.

"Mr. Vinson," said Martin, "we must have some campaign handbooks down here. Have there been printed yet?"

Said Mr. Vinson, apologetically, "No; none have been printed yet, and none will be printed. You see, the campaign committee has decided to have a great number of pieces of printed matter, pamphlets, etc., printed, but they will all be in separate pieces. You see, there will be some pieces we want to place in the hands of certain classes and we wouldn't like for them to get into the hands of certain other classes."

The damaging admission was received in silence by members of the club.

Assess State Employees.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 16.—A representative of the Republican campaign committee was in Frankfort to-day for the purpose of "frying some fat" out of the Statehouse employees. He called a meeting of the employees this afternoon in the board room at the capitol and all the employees who were in the building yesterday were present.

Of course, nothing was given out for publication, but it is known that all the employees were assessed 5 per cent of their year's salary for campaign expenses. It was announced to the clerks that none of the corporations was going to contribute anything to the campaign fund this year, and therefore the stockholders must bear the burden and put up the money.

Some weeks ago one of the Statehouse employees stated that if he was asked for a campaign contribution this year he would reply that he enclosed a check for the same amount that Judge O'Rear gave four years ago to the campaign fund and send the committee a blank check, as he said Judge O'Rear gave nothing four years ago and declined to help in the campaign in any way at all. Whether the aforesaid employee did this to-day is not known.

FIERCE TELEPHONE WAR LEADS TO DOCTORS' WAR

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 15.—Dr. B. L. Bradley has filed a suit in the McCracken Circuit Court for a permanent injunction to prevent the members of the McCracken County Medical Society from ejecting him from the membership. It is another chapter in the interesting telephone war that has waged in Paducah for several months. In June all of the doctors entered into an agreement to use only one telephone, and voted to install the Home telephone in preference to the East Tennessee telephone. Recently Dr. Bradley reinstated the East Tennessee telephone in his office, and charges were presented against him in the society because he broke his agreement.

Miss Shelley then went on to say that she had made the acquaintance of Marian Lawrence, the keeper of the resort in Tampa, about a year ago while the latter was visiting Louisville. The Lawrence woman, she said, rented a room from her at 328 West Jefferson street, and in this way she formed her acquaintance. She declared positively that

TELLS STORY OF WHITE SLAVERY

Kentucky Girl Mistreated
at Tampa, Fla.

A PITIFUL STORY OF TRIALS Told by the Girl, Whose Innocence Was Taken Ad- vantage Of.

WAS STARTED AT LOUISVILLE

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 16.—A girl confined in the Woman's Home and Hospital, who gave her name as Mary Richardson, and home as Harnard, Breckenridge county, Ky., tells a pitiful story of how she was driven into white slavery by Marian Lawrence and Ethel Evans, two of Tampa's demimonde. She said that transportation from Louisville to Tampa was furnished her by Edna Shelley, of Louisville, under the pretense that she would be given a position in this city.

The girl said that she lived near Louisville and that she went to that city to seek employment as a ticket seller in a moving-picture show, and she says that while in Louisville she met Edna Shelley, who was a ticket seller in a picture show near the corner of Fourth and Green streets, and that the Shelley woman told her she could get her a job at Tampa, Fla.

The Richardson girl says she was surprised when she reached Tampa to find that she was shown a room in a disreputable house.

She says she rebelled against the treatment there imposed upon her, but that the Lawrence and Evans women threatened her life if she made trouble or attempted to leave the house. She says she was forced to spend all her wages for gowns worn in such places.

Warrants were issued in the United States Court here-to-day for Marian Lawrence and Ethel Evans, who are being held by the city authorities. They will be brought before the Fiscal Court Monday.

District Attorney Cheney, Mayor McKay, City Attorney Mabry and Chief Woodward visited the girl in the Woman's Hospital to-day. She reiterated her story to them. The negro nurse also confirmed the story.

It is said the two women under arrest will set up a plea in defense that Miss Richardson met a commercial man in Louisville, who directed her to Tampa and that she was supposed to be a girl onto the "ways of the world."

Conflicting Stories Told by Edna Shelley.

The Louisville Courier-Journal of Sunday says:

Edna Shelley, cashier and ticket seller at the Casino Theater, in Fourth street, between Green and Jefferson, the woman named in the white-slave story from Tampa, told conflicting stories last night about the part alleged to have been taken by her in the case.

When informed by a reporter for the Courier-Journal that her name had been mentioned to the police by the girl found in the Lawrence woman's resort at Tampa, she said:

"I know nothing about any girl named Richardson. Neither do I know of any girl who left here recently to go to Tampa."

Miss Shelley was closely questioned for fully ten minutes, but she refused to say more and was careful not to deviate from her story. An hour or so later, however, in another interview, she admitted that a strange girl, with face smeared with cosmetics, rather shabbily dressed, tall and with dark complexion, approached her at the box office of the theater about three weeks ago and applied for a position. The girl told a hard luck story, she said. She had only five dollars in her possession at the time and needed employment.

Miss Shelley then went on to say that she had made the acquaintance of Marian Lawrence, the keeper of the resort in Tampa, about a year ago while the latter was visiting Louisville.

The Lawrence woman, she said, rented a room from her at 328 West Jefferson street, and in this way she formed her acquaintance.

She declared positively that she did not know that the woman was of questionable character.

About three weeks ago, she said, she received a letter from the Lawrence woman requesting that she send a girl to Tampa to accept employment as a housemaid. She said that when the strange girl appeared at the box office of the theater, she gave her the Lawrence woman's letter.

"She went away without telling me her name," she added. "I do not know whether she wrote to Marian Lawrence or not, or whether she went to Tampa, or whether she is the woman who is now in trouble. Further, I do not know how the woman in Tampa came to know my name. Marian Lawrence may have told her. Anybody may have told her my name."

A half-hour or so after making this statement the Shelley woman admitted in the presence of Irvin Simons, manager of the Casino Theater, that she made the acquaintance of the strange girl—the girl she at first said she met at the box office—through a Mrs. Mary Ragsdale. The latter, she said, had been employed at The Seelbach. It was her understanding, she said, that the strange girl had worked at the hotel.

Inquiry at The Seelbach failed to reveal any information about the girl or the present whereabouts of Mrs. Ragsdale. It was said that the latter had worked at the hotel, but no one had any knowledge of the girl.

At the Shelley apartment this morning at 1:30 o'clock a woman who said she was Miss Shelley's mother said:

"My daughter feels the disgrace keenly and she left the city to-night after the show."

She made this statement when told that the white slave victim in Tampa had declared to the police that Miss Shelley had furnished her with transportation to the South.

The woman insisted that she did not know where Miss Shelley had gone.

Woman's Arrest Asked.

The Courier-Journal of Monday says:

Telegraph advices early this morning that the Mayor and chief of police of Tampa had demanded the immediate arrest of Edna Shelley, of 328 West Jefferson

MR. C. E. WOODS FLIES THE TRACK

In His Attempt to Answer the Herald

IN REGARD TO FLOATER VOTE

In Kentucky—Instead, Devotes Himself to An Attack Upon McCreary.

IT'S QUITE A LENGTHY TIRADE

Richmond, Ky., Sept. 9, 1911.
Editors Hartford Herald—I appreciate not only the professional tender of space you make that I may reply to your remarks upon my course in "bolting" Mr. McCreary, but the mild tenor of your criticisms upon me warrant the belief that you are not too blindly partisan to accord a sincere Democrat the right to differ and to vote as his conscience dictates.

Nor do I believe you are afraid to let your readers, before whom you held me up as a lover of publicity, know why I think so little of my own political welfare as to renounce allegiance to the Democratic leader, despite the slings and arrows of ridicule or abuse that may follow my course.

Before I defend myself, let me express my surprise anew that you should continue to condemn Judge O'Rear for pressing upon the hearts and conscience of Kentucky that we have 70,000 vote-sellers in our State! You ask me to "verify the allegation with definite proof."

Well, I'll begin at home, in my county of Madison, the home of Candidate McCreary. Ex-Sheriff, ex-Postmaster and a supporter of Mr. McCreary to-day, in the person of Hon. Josia B. Willis, declares that in the Democratic party alone in Madison there are 1,500 "floaters!" Surely there are as many in the Republican party, as it is equal in size there, 13,000 voters each, and you have the astounding total of 3,000 "vote-sellers" in the good Bluegrass county of Madison alone.

As there are 119 counties, multiply them by 3,000 and you have 357,000 "floaters," in Old Kentucky. As Madison is an unusually large county, let us cut the average right in half, and you still have 178,500 or over double the number charged by Judge O'Rear.

You are aware that a Circuit Judge in Eastern Kentucky some months ago, following the course of the Judge in Adams County, Ohio, where 95 per cent, of ALL VOTERS WERE CONVICTED of selling their suffrage, found almost equally astounding conditions. So, Mr. Editor, don't shut your eyes to the lamentable truth, that Judge O'Rear was uncovering a disease in our body-politic which is worse than leprosy, the debauchery of the Manhood Suffrage of Old Kentucky. He thus emphasizes the need of a Corrupt Practice Act, to which both parties stand committed. Surely it is no greater crime for him to tell half a truth about our "floating" voters, than for McCreary to say that "Kentucky ranks 45th in the scale of illiteracy in the whole United States." May not this ignorance be the cause of much of that vice? Be fair. If you do not, just say that I told your readers that your candidate for Governor, McCreary, is believed to have spent to secure office in the past, the larger part of his fortune of a quarter of a million dollars. His money and his whiskey have corrupted every county in the Eighth District. Strong words? I have from his own lips that he once gave $1,000 to a county committee near you!!!

Don't be afraid to publish that statement. I am responsible for all I utter or print. And when my editorial friends get after me even so gently as you do, I am able to defend the faith that is in me. Besides, this is what you get for challenging me to give specifications! I leave to your readers to judge between yourself, O'Rear and my defense of the latter on this point.

If the Republican Committee is using any of my communications, such as this, as "campaign literature," as you aver, I have no other knowledge of it than your statement. But I am willing to say that few men in Kentucky have had such exceptional opportunity to know the political meanderings and evasions, dodgings and straddles, and high-class deception of the public by my fellow-townsman, Hon. James B. McCreary, as has the undersigned. Therefore, when I hear a good Democrat like yourself condemn O'Rear for "insincerity" and praise McCreary for "straightforwardness, etc." I say in my heart of hearts "Forgive him, Lord, he knoweth not what he sayeth!" or words to that effect.

You speak as a man who is sincere, as an editor who believes in the integrity of the party and of the candidate, when you utter these fine words: "The great mass of Kentucky voters expected—yes, DEMANDED—that the Democracy of the State should keep its record and advance along the same line by the adoption of a county unit plank in its platform. It would have been an open violation of confidence to have done otherwise!"

These words are worthy of you or of any sincere man. They are the words I used last February and last June to induce Senator McCreary to spare me and other temperance Democrats the disagreeable duty of leaving him if he did not, before everlasting too late, speak out as a statesman, as a "sincere" man, as a brave and inspiring leader and tell where he stood and where the Democratic party should stand upon the County Unit question. You, Mr. Editor, very properly say the people "demanded" such an advanced position; but Mr. McCreary, with characteristic cowardice, or trickery, or political sagacity, if you choose so to term such conduct, stuck to his usual course of "addition, division and silence!"

The State stood aghast at his non-committal policy, even to the day of the platform convention, when that body with difficulty slid a county unit plank under his feet, with Beckham's aid and despite Watterson's protest.

I say to you that that course was of itself enough to turn "sincere" men of all parties away from Mr. McCreary. But in my own case, which is now under discussion, it only added the last straw that broke the camel's back. Here briefly is the story, and I challenge any man who calls himself a patriot before he is a partisan, a "sincere" man before he is a sycophant or a moral coward, to debate the issue with me anywhere in Kentucky—"Why McCreary's Temperance Record is a Myth!"

First—Mr. McCreary has had three chances in fourteen years to vote wet or dry in Richmond, and failed each time to discharge the plain duties of citizenship.

Second—He was supported by the combined liquor interests of Kentucky four short years ago for U. S. Senator against Gov. Beckham, and the latter publicly declared "Every saloon in the State is a McCreary headquarters."

Third—Mr. McCreary publicly denounced Gov. Beckham for remaining away from a local option election in Bardstown Sept. 1, 1906, whereas within five months thereafter, and again last March, 1911, and again in 1897, Mr. McCreary dodged the same issue in Richmond, when his neighbors were struggling to vote out the saloons!

Tell me that your candidate for Governor is a sincere, courageous, or inspiring leader? God deliver us from one who has the voice of Jacob but whose hand is the hand of Esau!

And why do I feel so deeply upon this subject of electing or defeating my fellow townsman? Because I fought through three heartbreaking temperance contests at Richmond, hand-to-hand with the saloons, the breweries and distilling interests, and their hired preachers, lawyers and debauchees, and I vowed I would forfeit $5,000 if I as Mayor failed to enforce the local option law. I risked my life, I gave my time, my salary, my thought and my personal and political welfare over to the completest test of the law, and I have the unanimous endorsement of friend and foe alike of the temperance cause that I delivered the goods in my official and private capacity.

The once blood-stained city of Richmond, stagnated by drink and debt-ridden by saloon domination, is to-day the model law-enforced city of Kentucky, with over a million of dollars increased wealth, crime reduced to a minimum, contentment and prosperity alike among white and black, and with a future as fair as any community in all Kentucky. What part in that grand achievement had Mr. McCreary? Where was he when those memorable battles were fought to snatch his home town as a brand from the burning? Verily, "By their fruits ye shall know them!"

There you have a picture of your candidate for Governor, imperfect only that I have not painted him "scars and all." He has a record while Governor before that ought to be told to the new voters of today, who are asked to believe McCreary was a model Governor, and that he will give us a "respectable" administration. One has only to delve in the musty records of his administration, 1875-'79, to explode the boasted claims of your "respectable" candidate. Listen: "When McCreary entered the office of Governor the school per capita for his first year was $1.90; when he left it in 1879, that per capita fell to $1.25, in less than a year, and there was not a single event during his whole administration that advanced the cause of education! In 1876 McCreary entered the office of Governor with a good surplus in the Treasury; he left it in 1879 with the doors of the Treasury locked and barred, because there was not a penny in there to pay the honest claims against the Commonwealth, and its credit was discredited in the eyes of the business world."

The Danville Daily Advocate, Democrat at that, thus commented upon McCreary's absence from home on local option election day last March: "The worst thing that has come out on Mr. McCreary during his campaign for Governor, is being vigorously talked. Last Friday a very hot local option election was held in his home town of Richmond. The night before, Senator McCreary boarded the train for Louisville, McCrory's immediate successor. Those charges were publicly made by Mr. Beckham in his race against McCrory four years ago, and they will stand forevermore evidence incontrovertible that McCrory, The Model Governor, was a MYTH!

Four years ago, our lamented Dick Miller, the brainiest Representative of his generation, gave up his life as a result of his struggle to pass the Normal School bills. Sullivan, Burnam, Cherry, Potter and others threw themselves into the breach, and saved the bills from defeat. Mr. McCreary, whose home town offered a $150,000 plant to the State to locate a Normal School there, took no part or parcel in that titanic struggle. And yet he appears before those schools at Richmond and Bowling Green and discourses on Education as though he had any more part in the educational uplift of Kentucky than in its redemption from open saloons!

Whom has my party just placed before the people of Kentucky? A candidate who on the main issues of temperance and education is an artful dodger and the reputed beneficiary—if we are to believe Beckham, which I do—of the combined influence and money of the liquor interests of Kentucky! McCreary, the man who while Governor a generation ago, produced a bankrupt State Treasury, a worthless bureau of Agriculture, a defunct Geological Survey, and finally a reduction of the School per capita!! What a record!!! I challenge contradiction.

Most likely, if Mr. McCreary's administration of Governor had been really worthy of the name "Model," his subsequent long service in both Houses of the Federal Congress would have brought forth more fruits of patriotic usefulness upon the broad plane of National Statesmanship than it did upon the smaller level in the diplomatic and judicious distribution of garden seeds and Government pamphlets.

Can the dry Democrats of Ohio county censure me for being grateful to Judge O'Rear for his timely admission in pleading last March with 1,000 citizens of Richmond to keep the city dry, while Mr. McCreary locked himself up in his parlor a few blocks away? That is true!

Can they blame me for standing by the courageous O'Rear, the defender of local option in almost every county election in Kentucky, while Mr. McCreary actually left home the very eve of our last election, while 500 Normal students paraded beneath his office window with a motto, "Vote Richmond Dry For Our Sakes!" That is also true.

Can you, Mr. Editor, blame me who have a conscientious conviction that I should support a "sincere" temperance Republican for Governor, when my party candidate would travel from Atlantic City to Louisville to attend the last Derby horse race there, though he could not get his consent to leave Washington City four years ago to help his struggling neighbors to drive the Rum Demon from our doors?

Two appeals were sent him to come home, but in vain.

Can you blame me for keeping a pledge I made two years ago, that I would support Judge O'Rear on the same popular, progressive plank, and insert a dry timber to catch the dry vote; while McCreary's wet campaign of 1907 obligated him, yes, ties him to-day hand and foot to repay the debt he owes the liquor interests for delivering the city votes of Kentucky to him against Beckham, four short years ago!

Too late, too late, did he whisper, only a week ago at Bowling Green the dictated speech on the county unit! "Can a leopard change its spots?" Verily, "By their fruits ye shall know them!"

Shame upon Senator McCreary!

From the foul odors of the grogshops and from libelous publications of his purchased organs, a campaign reeking with slander may be expected.

He is busily engaged enlisting upon his side every violator of the Sunday laws and every man who opposes their enforcement.

In every saloon in Kentucky

McCreary's petition is presented that signers may pledge themselves to fight me and support him.

He has invited to his support the disappointed pardon-brokers, place-hunters, and professional grafters, and every law-breaker and saloon-keeper who resents my efforts to enforce the law against the debauchery of the Sabbath Day."

Those are the blistering words of Mr. Beckham, uttered when the two men were rivals for the same office four years ago. And I believe they were absolutely true. Mr. McCreary certainly carried every saloon town in Kentucky!

Gov. Beckham also uttered this awful indictment against Mr. Mc-

Creary, which I believe firmly is as true to-day as it was four years ago,

viz.:

"The whiskey element is championing the cause of McCreary. He cannot get away from their support if he would—and no man will accuse the Madison statesman of getting away from any character of support in a political fight, for he is a believer in the use of the sins of war."

At Bowling Green McCreary finally crawled out on the County Unit Plank, didn't he? Let Mr. Beckham of four years ago express my personal convictions of to-day: "McCreary has been given permission by the lawless liquor element TO DECLARE HIMSELF IN FAVOR OF THE COUNTY UNIT LAW WITHOUT IMPAIRING HIS CHANCES OF THEIR SUPPORT!"

That is what you call expert testimony. From my own knowledge of Mr. McCreary's record, it is easy to believe it all.

Temperance Democrats will be slow to believe a candidate with such a variegated record, however respectable in private or public, can change his colorless record any more than the Ethiopian can alter the color of his skin.

And yet on this very subject Mr. Beckham said this four years ago: "A man like McCreary, who was such an ardent Gold Bug in 1895 and an equally intense Silverite in 1896, has a right to change his mind on temperance or on any question in two weeks!"—especially WHEN THE INTERESTS OF HIS OWN CANDIDACY DEMAND SUCH A CHANGE." That is a true picture of McCreary on "National Issues"—pro-anti.

In view of these and many equally suspicious circumstances, I appeal to you, Mr. Editor, to say in your paper alongside this communication whether you really believe now that my reasons for "bolting" McCreary are insincere, flimsy or personal; or whether they are sufficient and bear upon their very face the stamp of sound reason and justification for my course.

I know it is to be regretted that Kentucky Democrats exhibit a tendency to divide into hostile camps this fall, over a question "essential" morally, non-political and social," as the Democratic platform apologetically declares regarding the county unit and temperance, and as the liquorites would have us believe. I also regret that candidates who want the offices regardless of all else want us to forget our differences, and forget their bad records, for their own benefit, you well know. But for myself I am committed to perpetual warfare against the arrogant liquor powers which control even our Democratic committees, dictate our officers whenever they can, cripple, defeat and defy our laws, and then would read out of our party any man audacious enough to defy them openly and refuse longer to follow their hypocritical leadership.

I am against Mr. McCreary because of his unworthy record on the paramount issues of the time. I am for O'Rear because I cannot oppose him and answer to my God for forsaking to his foes and to the foes of Kentucky this little giant who is the solitary hope this year and for many years to come, of a cleaner, better and more progressive Kentucky. If that be "bolting" my party, "Lay on, McDuff!"

Eyes of the Battleship.
In the design and equipment of Uncle Sam's new battleships no feature is more noticeable than the facilities afforded for observation by the officers and men stationed on the bridge—observations of the beacons and other aids to navigation, but more especially observations of the movements of a supposed enemy. On the bridge and on the "fire-control" tower overhead are to be found artificial aids for the "eyes of the battleship," ranging all the way from the old-fashioned glasses to the powerful telescopes and kindred annihilators of distance that are too large to be supported at arm's length and manipulated after the fashion of the spyglasses of the ancient mariner.

FIGURES TELL STRAIGHT TALE

Of Republican Extravagance in State.

VERY CORRECT SUMMING UP

Of the Matter—What Democratic Officials Accomplished in Office.

FACTS WORTH REMEMBERING

Editor S. W. Hager, who was State Auditor under the last Democratic administration in Kentucky, writing in his paper, the Owensboro Inquirer, says:

Let the tax-payers of Kentucky regardless of party, study well what the present Republican administration has cost them before they vote to continue the Republican party in power in Kentucky.

In 1900, the Democrats took charge of the State offices, succeeding the administration of Gov. Bradley and the brief reign of the unspeakable Taylor. In that year the Republicans passed out of control in Kentucky, leaving the State $1,000,000 in debt. The Democrats were in control for eight years. Within that time they paid off the million-dollar indebtedness created by the Republicans; they also expended $1,000,000 on the new capitol, and on January 6, 1908, the State offices were again turned over to the Republicans with $1,013,555.72 in the treasury, and all indebtedness paid to date.

On July 31, 1911, after only three-and-one-half years of Republican rule, there was in the treasury only $338,852.69, with outstanding interest-bearing warrants amounting to $1,359,502.

In eight years the Democrats paid a debt of $1,000,000 inherited from the Bradley administration, spent $1,000,000 on the capitol, leaving more than $1,000,000 in the treasury, and at that ratio, if the Democrats had been continued in power, there would to-day be no outstanding warrants, and with the capitol paid for, there would be in the treasury a big cash balance.

Again add to the $1,013,555.72 in the treasury in 1908, when the Democrats turned the State offices over to the Republicans, the $1,359,502 which the Republican administration is now in debt on outstanding warrants, and you have a total of $2,372,557. Take from this the $338,852.69 in the treasury on July 31, 1911, and there remains $2,033,704.31, the amount a Republican administration has cost in excess of a Democratic administration in three and one-half years.

The difference is so great that it palls on the tax-payers, and they will be slow to vote any more Republican extravagance upon themselves.

Of course Willson's State Board of Equalization raised the assessment on the farms of Kentucky by $61,000,000. They needed the money. But what the taxpayers want to know is why the Republicans need two or three million dollars more in four years to conduct the affairs of the State than is needed by the Democrats.

C. W. SHERRILL ACQUITTED IN ROBARDS BANK CASE

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 13.—C. W. Sherrill, who has been on trial for the past two days, charged with the offense of making false entries on the books of the bank at Robards, Ky., was given his freedom at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon, when the jury filed into court with verdict of not guilty. This is the second trial of the case, and on account of the prominence of Sherrill, the trial has attracted considerable attention.

Sherrill is a brother of Walter A. Sherrill, residing near Utica, Daviess county, who is under indictment in the Daviess Circuit Court on the charge of embezzling over $5,000 belonging to the Utica Deposit bank.

NEW RICHMOND IN THE FIELD

Says Endorsement of Taft and Administration Doesn't Count.

ARTFUL DODGE OF A QUESTION

Flemingsburg, Ky., Sept. 13—Judge E. C. O'Rear, in his speech delivered in the courthouse here yesterday afternoon, said that the endorsement by the Republican State Convention of President Taft and the Republican administration at Washington was only the ordinary custom of tossing bouquets, and told his hearers they might disregard the eulogies of the party, as they did not amount to anything.

He prefaced a discussion of the Republican State platform with these words:

"You can lay aside the eulogies upon the party that don't amount to anything. That's like a fellow bragging on his children, or his dog, or his shotgun. It is permitted as one of the incidents. Lay that aside and come down to what you are talking about going to try the next four years."

Judge O'Rear spoke for an hour and a half and devoted much of his speech to consideration of the address made at Stanford yesterday by the Hon. E. J. McDermott, Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

After asserting that Senator McCreary had criticised no part of the Republican platform except that endorsing the national administration, Judge O'Rear said:

"But there is a new Richmond in the field in the person of my doughty friend, Edward J. McDermott. He is one of the most cultured and able men in Kentucky. Before a German society in Covington a few days ago he indicated that after finishing schools here, he went through the University of Dublin, and another university somewhere in Germany and can speak at least two modern languages. He ought to be able to express any opinions he might have. Yesterday he spoke at Stanford. His speech was written out and advanced sheets were handed to the press. It is a good speech, the best speech made on that side in this campaign. I venture to say it is the best that will be made. Ed McDermott, in my humble opinion—meaning no disrespect to his associates—is decidedly the classiest man in the bunch. Because he was too independent, too thoughtful and believed too much in clean politics, he was for a long time kept in total eclipse by the machine. Why did they let him out? I assume that everybody knows that it was not because of his independence, but in spite of it, and not because of his education, but disregarding it, and because it was believed that owing to peculiar conditions in Kentucky at this time, he could get a bigger number of votes than any other man.

"Mr. McDermott is making good as a campaigner. He showed striking familiarity with the tricks of the trade. He takes me to task because I decline to enter into a controversy over national politics, intimating that I am afraid and unable to defend the national policies of the Republican party."

Judge O'Rear said he was asked by someone in Carlisle yesterday if he approved of certain Republican conduct at Washington, and said he replied by saying:

"I endorse everything in it that's right, and I am against everything that is wrong."

GOOD ADVICE FOR WIVES AS TO COMMON THINGS

The Ten Commandments which Mme. Maeterlinck has issued for the guidance of wives are filled with good sense. How could you beat these recipes for a happy home?

Wait on your husband yourself; get out the proper clothes for him to don each day; smooth over all the rough places; be sweet when he is out of humor; laugh when he is gay; feed before fondling him; don't say anything when you think he is wrong—only look it; don't ask him to walk if he doesn't want to; be a good cook; save his money. This is the meat of the first nine. The last commandment is not to lose sight of the fact that you are his superior in more ways than he is yours, and if you are able to carry out faithfully the first nine, you surely will be. Nor will there be any to deny that distinction, least of all your husband.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of Execution No. 419 directed to me, which issued from the Clerk's office of the Ohio Circuit Court, in favor of F. L. Felix, Master Commissioner Ohio Circuit Court, for use and benefit Fordsville Banking Co. against J. P. Gilmore, et al., for $1,950.50, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum from the 2d day of August, 1909, and $116.36 costs herein, including Sheriff's commission, &c., I, or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, the 2d day of October, 1911, about one o'clock p. m., at the court house door in Hartford, Ohio county, Kentucky, expose to public sale, to the highest bidder, the following property (or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy Plaintiff's debt, interest and costs), to-wit:

FIRST TRACT—Begins at a stone on the west side of the Hartford road at the junction of Walker street; thence with the center thereof of N. 34½ W. 268 feet to a stone, corner to S. Landrum; thence N. 47 E. 96— to a stone; thence S. 40 80 feet to a stone; thence with the west side of same S. 31½ feet to the beginning, same conveyed to J. S. Reynolds by deed from B. F. Wallace and wife, dated September 23d, 1885, and recorded in Deed Book No. 7, Folio 147, Ohio County Clerk's office.

Located and situated on the above tract is a dwelling house, stable, a pair of wagon-scales and a large granary, all in good condition and adjoining the lot or parcel of land designated as second tract herein.

SECOND TRACT—Begins at a stone on west side of Hartford road, corner to lot No. 1; thence with the center of Walker street and line of lot No. 1, N. 34½ W. 213 feet; thence S. 50½ W. 122 feet to a stone; thence N. 39 W. 127 feet to a stone; thence S. 58 W. 210 feet to a line of J. Bad Spells

"I suffered, during girlhood, from womanly weakness," writes Mrs. Mollie Navy, of Walnut, N. C. "At last, I was almost bed-ridden, and had to give up. We had three doctors. All the time, I was getting worse. I had bad spells, that lasted from 7 to 28 days. In one week, after I gave Cardui a trial, I could eat, sleep, and joke, as well as anybody. In 8 weeks, I was well. I had been an invalid for 5 weary years! Cardui relieved me, when everything else failed."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are weak and ailing, think what it would mean, to you, to recover as quickly as Mrs. Navy did. For more than 50 years, this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women, has been used by thousands of weak and ailing sufferers. They found it of real value in relieving their aches and pains. Why suffer longer? A remedy that has relieved and helped so many, is ready, at the nearest drug store, for use, at once, by you. Try it, today.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE, OHIO COUNTY—M. T. Westerfield.

It has been discovered by the Louisville Herald that "a prominent attorney for the American Tobacco Company is against Judge O'Rear." Gov. Wilson was formerly an attorney for this Company. Wonder if it could be him?

Carry the news to Hannah! Noise it abroad in every nook of the county and surrounding territory that the Democrats are going to give a big free all-day rally and barbecue at Hartford on Thursday, October 12th. Let the people come and hear the great orators.

Give Judge O'Rear credit for admitting that the Democrats have at least one man on their State ticket who is worthy of consideration—Edward J. McDermott. The Appellate Judge was compelled to admit that the doughty McDermott is a scholar and a gentleman and the peer of any statesman. And Judge O'Rear may as well say—which is but the truth—that the balance of the Democratic ticket is just as worthy.

With characteristic adroitness and an evident desire to suppress the facts purely for political purposes, the Louisville Herald refused or failed to print the little card of our countryman, Mr. Dudley Ford, calling attention to the fact that it had printed an untruth about him and asking for proper correction. It would have been doing nothing only the fair thing for the Herald to have printed Mr. Ford's card, but Republican newspapers are not over-exerting themselves along that line nowadays.

Who could be blamed for accusing Judge O'Rear of insincerity as the campaign progresses? In his speech at Flemingsburg he admitted that the Republican State platform's endorsement of President Taft and the Republican administration at Washington was only the ordinary custom of tossing bouquets, "like a fellow bragging on his children or his dog, or his shotgun." If one part of the Republican State platform means nothing, why should the people believe that the balance of it means anything? Is there really any sincerity in any of it?

After The Herald stated last week the plain truth, that on account of its extreme length we could not print the article of Mr. C. E. Woods attacking the political record of Gov. McCreary, the Hartford Republican covers its front page with said article with the only explanation that "The Herald did not use this article this week that was sent them," without quoting our reason. This is a specimen of the fairness (?) of the Hartford organ of the g. o. p. in assisting Mr. Woods in a guerilla warfare against The Herald and Mr. McCreary.

Republican newspapers are insisting that the Republican party has never been in power in Kentucky, has never had control of the Legislature, nor been in a position to raise or lower taxes, or in fact, pass any piece of legislation independent of the Democrats. And God forbid that they should ever get in the latter named position, so far as the good of the State is concerned. The Governors they have given us and what these Governors did, shows plainly they have been in power, even to tax-raising through an Equalization Board.

They have given us enough to know we do not want any more of such rule.

MR. WOODS DODGES.

Mr. C. E. Woods, ex-Mayor, ex-editor and we might in all truthfulness say ex-Democrat, of Richmond, Ky., uses up nearly five columns of The Herald's space this week in what is supposed to be an attempt to reply to what The Herald said two weeks ago about the charge of Mr. Woods and Judge O'Rear that there are anywhere from seventy to one hundred and fifty thousand voters in Kentucky who regularly sell their votes. This voluminous article of Mr. Woods was, after being put in type, necessarily crowded out of our last issue, as plainly explained last week.

To anyone who cares to wade through his wearisome article, it will be seen that Mr. Woods dodges the main question almost entirely. Instead of accepting The Herald's invitation (with the law attached) and substantiating the charge of himself and his Republican leader with some affidavits and material proof, exposing at least a few hundred guilty parties out of the many thousands estimated, he skips over this subject lightly and enters into a long tirade of crimination and abuse of Governor McCreary, the charges of which have no connection with the subject at hand.

As to what personal grievance Mr. Woods has against Mr. McCreary, we know nothing and care, if possible, less. That is matter as between man and man. Mr. Woods seems to have taken advantage of The Herald's kind offer to allow him space to reply to our article about VOTE SELLING with a voluminous document which takes up nearly a page of our space and in which he uses nearly every sentence to excoriate Mr. McCreary for some real or fancied offense, but whose personality, candidacy or acts have nothing whatever to do with the subject at hand—the charge of a venal suffrage. He dodges the issue entirely.

Mr. Woods brags that as Mayor of Richmond, he "delivered the goods" and made that city the model municipality for law and temperance. We know nothing about this, but if, he did, why was he not re-elected at a subsequent election? Why is he not Mayor yet?

Mr. Woods says: "Notwithstanding his colorless temperance record, I urged Mr. McCreary last February to come out like a leader and utter one word to nerve temperance Democrats, but he refused to tell me, his consistent supporter," etc. Further along Mr. Woods says, in speaking of Mr. McCreary: "He has a record while Governor before, that ought to be told to the new voters of to-day, who are asked to believe McCreary was a model Governor, and that he will give us a respectable administration." Why did Mr. Woods follow Mr. McCreary so long, as a "consistent supporter" when he doubted, as inferred by his language, that the ex-Governor would give a "respectable administration" to anything? Why didn't he bolt such an "ornery" creature sooner? Still further along Mr. Woods says: "At Bowling Green McCreary finally crawled out on the county unit plank," but even then, after complying with the main and crucial demand of Mr. Woods, this gentleman continues his abuse of Democracy's candidate for Governor, and he vents his animus with continued criminations. It is evident that Mr. McCreary could not please Richmond's ex-Mayor by anything he might do.

We have seen the like of Mr. Woods before. He seems to have been recruited into the ranks of that species of political fanatic who, having strenuous and arbitrary views upon certain subjects, must force demand of a candidate whom he already dislikes, that he conform in act, deed and principle to his peculiar views before suffrage is vouchsafed. Evidently, from the import of his article, he has done this with Mr. McCreary, and that gentleman, not caring to conform his entire personality to Mr. Woods' demands, politely turned him away. It is unfortunate that party colleagues cannot always agree as touching personal conduct.

Again Mr. Woods oversteps the bounds of newspaper ethics and propriety and from the columns of the Hartford Republican last Friday he belched forth his tiresome tirade against Mr. McCreary—the same article which we print to-day, which was crowded out last week and which was evidently furnished the Republican in advance. With this sort of guerilla warfare The Herald will have nothing to do. It smacks too much of sensationalism, notoriety and disrespect. If Mr. Woods will not take our word for it that his replies to what we may say will be printed by The Herald, he must omit us from his avenue of publication. We object to such double-dealing methods. We can see no sense in his articles appearing in both papers in the same town the same week. As he seems to prefer Republican journals for his mouthpieces, so be it. And since he has dodged the subject at issue and enters into nothing but a personal attack upon Mr. McCreary, we must beg to be excused from printing this sort of stuff.

When Mr. Woods cares to drop his personal animus towards Mr. McCreary and appear with the goods as outlined in the initial controversy—with proof of venal suffrage to the extent he claims and a feasible plan to annihilate it—we will be glad to entertain him with any reasonable space. In the meantime he still has our respect as an old friend—erring but earnest in his antipathy towards one of Kentucky's most noted and able statesmen, Mr. McCreary.

Sept. 18.—Rev. H. P. Brown filled his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday.

Our superintendent, Mr. J. M. Bishop, being sick, Sunday School was conducted Sunday by Mr. L. B. Loney.

Mr. Roderick Miller, formerly of this place, but now of Zion City, Ill., is visiting friends here and at Centertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fulker, of Paradise, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rowe and other relatives here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Artie Rowe, of Paducah, are visiting Mrs. Amanda Rowe and other relatives at this place and Centertown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Iglesias, of Beaver Dam, recently.

Miss Rosa Loney will go to Beaver Dam to-day to spend a few weeks with her uncle, Mr. Rob Brown.

A delightful entertainment was given last Wednesday night by Miss Louisa Miller at her home here.

Misses Lee and Ruth Tichenor, of this place, entertained quite a number of their friends on last Saturday night.

Miss Pearl Martin, of Horton, is visiting her brother, Mr. Birch Martin, here.

Mr. J. T. Hocker was taken quite ill yesterday morning, but was improving when last heard from.

Mr. Larkin Williams, Miss Ora Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaver, of Beaver Dam, visited the family of Mr. Thomas Williams, of this place, and attended church here Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Loney received a message last week that her brother, Mr. Willis Maddox, formerly of this county, had died at his home in Texas. She also received a message that her brother, Dr. J. D. Maddox, was dangerously ill at his home in Owensboro.

BEAVER DAM.

Sept. 18.—Mr. Ab Chapman, of Simmons, Ky., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Less Chinn. "Uncle Ab," as he is called, is the only living county man who voted for Lincoln for President in 1860. There were just three men voted for Lincoln in Ohio county in that memorable race. The other two were "Uncle Ab's" father and Thornton Rogers. The other two have long since crossed the River of Death and "Uncle Ab" is in his 80th year but enjoying good health for a man of his age.

Mrs. Thomas Fowler, of Beaumont, Texas, was in town a day last week, visiting Mrs. John Alford.

Mrs. John Chapman and mother, Mrs. Thomas Stewart, of Central City, visited friends in town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Taylor, of Stanford, Ill., are visiting the father of Mrs. Taylor, Mr. Delmer Williams.

Mr. Sam Robards and family left last week for Danville, Ark., where they will make their future home.

Rev. G. H. Lawrence has moved from the import of his article, he has done this with Mr. McCreary, and that gentleman, not caring to conform his entire personality to Mr. Woods' demands, politely turned him away. It is unfortunate that party colleagues cannot always agree as touching personal conduct.

Again Mr. Woods oversteps the bounds of newspaper ethics and propriety and from the columns of the Hartford Republican last Friday he belched forth his tiresome tirade against Mr. McCreary—the same article which we print to-day, which was crowded out last week and which was evidently furnished the Republican in advance.

The school at this place is progressing nicely. Miss Grace Williams, who has charge of the primary department, has 85 scholars in her charge, 15 of whom are in their first school. Prof. Shultz, the president, is building up the school. He has every department in good running order and is well liked by patrons and pupils.

TAFT UPHOLDS DR. WILEY
IN EVERY PARTICULAR

President Decides "Pure Food"
Expert's Case and Rejects Recommendations.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—The resignation of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry in the Department of Agriculture, and probably the best known pure food expert in the Government service, will not be asked for by President Taft, despite recommendations that it be requested, made by the personnel board of the department and endorsed by Attorney General Wickesham.

The "condign punishment" for Dr. Wiley, which Mr. Wickesham held to be necessary, will not be meted out by the Chief Executive. The President's opinion, carrying no word of criticism for Dr. Wiley, but many a word of praise, was made public here to-day. There is no indication in it that the President feels that he "turned down" Mr. Wickesham by not accepting his recommendations.

He explains that the Attorney General's findings in the case were made with less complete data than was before him when he took it up. In the opinion the President admits what has been well known to many persons close to the Administration; that there is trouble in the Department of Agriculture. Speaking of the congressional inquiry into that department unfinished at the last session, but to be taken up again next winter, Mr. Taft says:

"The broader issues raised by the investigation, which have a much weightier relation than this one to the general efficiency of the department, may require much more radical action than the question I have considered and decided."

CONTRACTS TO LET.

Pursuant to the order of City Council of Hartford, Ky., I will on Saturday, the 23d day of September, 1911, about 1 p. m., at the court house door in Hartford, Ky., let to the lowest and best bidder contracts for constructing concrete pavements as follows: About 75 linear feet in front of the property of G. W. Bunker, on Clay street; about 200 feet front of property of the M. H. & E. R. Co., on Clay street; about 100 feet abutting the property of F. L. Felix, on Walnut street; about 100 feet abutting the property of Rowan Holbrook, on Walnut street; about 120 feet abutting the property of Mrs. Mary Weinheimer, on Clay street; about 120 feet abutting the property of E. M. Woodward and about 120 feet abutting the property of Mrs. Mattie Barrett, on Clay street.

Said pavements to be constructed according to the specifications set out in the ordinance heretofore published, and recorded in the records in custody of the City Clerk.

This September 12, 1911.

HON. BEN JOHNSON SPEAKS AT DANVILLE TO BIG CROWD

Danville, Ky., Sept. 18.—A large crowd of Boyle county Democrats assembled at the court house to hear the Hon. Ben Johnson make his first speech in the present political campaign. In strong and ringing words he declared his unqualified support of the Democratic ticket, and promised to speak in its behalf at whatever point in the State the Democratic Committee should call upon him to do so.

He showed the equivocations and contradictory statements that have been made by Judge O'Rear in his canvass, and compared the promises of the Republican platform four years ago with the past administration of the Republicans, in which those promises failed to materialize, and held up the present promises of the same party as a delusion and a snare.

A Pleasant Occasion.

A very delightful affair was the social party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tappan at their pretty residence on Madison street in East Hartford last Friday night in honor of their visitor, Miss Grace Tappan, of Central City. It was a very happy gathering and the spirit of congeniality pervaded the whole event. Social games were played and delightful refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Tappan displayed fine talents as entertainers.

Those present were: Misses Grace Tappan, Central City, Ky., Elsie Matthews, Hamilton, O.; Ruth Riley, Lila Magan, Bessie Taylor, Beatrice Haynes, Ozona Mossey, Hettie Riley, Winona Stevens, Annie Allen Elgin, Annie Eliza Keown, Gertrude Wright; Messrs. E. A. Field, Lafayette, La.; Josh Field, Port Arthur, Texas; Sydney Williams, J. C. Barnard, W. T. Pendleton, Jas. D. Ford, Ellis Foster, McDowell Fogel, J. Ney Foster, Casius Spalding, Harold Holbrook and E. V. Park.

REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS ARE SILENT IN THE CAMPAIGN

Two months have passed since the Republican State convention nominated Judge O'Rear and the rest of the ticket at his dictation, and not a voice has been lifted in its behalf by Gov. Wilson, Lieut. Gov. Cox, Secretary of State Bruner, Attorney General Breathitt, Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin, Superintendent of Public Instruction Regenstein, who make up the present Republican State administration, and what is more galling to the one-man Republican State Campaign "Committee" is that none is expected to help the O'Rear outfit. In addition to these, Col. E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, who sought the gubernatorial nomination, has been as silent as a tomb, and there are no indications that he will "open up." —[Princeton Leader.]

PEOPLE FLEEING BEFORE HOT LAVA

Eruption of Mt. Etna Becoming Alarming.

SEVENTY-NINE NEW FISSURES

Show Extent of Awful Out-break Which is Devastating Country.

ENTIRE CREST IN ERUPTION

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 15.—The crest of Mt. Etna now presents a terrifying spectacle. Heavy smoke lies over it, with frequent brilliant flashes, and the bombardment which continues along the line nearly two miles in extent is like the firing of heavy artillery.

A torrent of burning lava, estimated at 2,000 feet wide and four feet deep, is pouring down the slopes.

Everything in its way has been carried before it. Groves of trees have been uprooted and set on fire, and the lava stream is sweeping through the fields, sending out for miles around hot, resinous waves of smoke.

The peasants have left their homes, carrying with them the aged, the sick and the children and whatever belongings they were able to get together.

Whole regions covered with hardened lava from past eruptions have been torn open by the frequent earth shocks. Many of these have been of great violence, and the peasants fear a repetition of the Messina disaster.

Sixteen new fissures have opened on Mt. Etna, and from the two nearest the base of the volcano a great stream of lava issues.

The residents, however, are panic stricken and have deserted the towns.

The earth shocks continue. The river of lava has invaded the centuries-old forests of larch and pine, and appears about to destroy the beautiful vineyards and nutwoods.

The eruption of Mt. Etna is assuming the proportions of a real disaster. The lava stream, whose path crosses the railway line, circling the volcano, is approaching the railway station to the north, and especially threatening the depots at Moio and Alcantara, which were abandoned to-day.

Squads of laborers were at work to-day taking up the railroad tracks and removing all transportable material to places of safety.

The entire crest of Mt. Etna appears to be in a state of ebullition. An exact count of the number of fissures is impossible because of the smoke which shrouds the whole mountain, but there seem to be more than thirty openings, all belching smoke and lava.

This afternoon it was reported that a total of seventy-nine new fissures had opened in the volcano since the disturbance began. The river of lava has increased in volume and extended eight miles from its source. The houses of several peasants have been overwhelmed.

The earthquakes continue, terrifying the people for miles about. At Zafferana, on the north coast of Sicily, fifty shocks were recorded during twenty-four hours.

The gravity of the eruption of Mt. Etna is indicated by the abandonment of the railway stations of Moio and Alcantara at the north of the volcano. Alcantara marked the limit of the lava flow in the eruption of 1879. Moio was threatened at the time, but escaped.

The eruption means great suffering for the peasantry. The slopes of Etna, with an area of more than 400 square miles, support a population more dense than that of any other portion of Sicily or Italy. There are sixty-five cities and villages in the entire area, and the number of inhabitants which obtain an excellent agricultural living from the fertile lava beds, totals more than 300,000.

THE GIRL AND HER HERO—WHERE LIES HER PRESTIGE

No young lady ever lost Her Hero because her hands happened to be a little calloused from wielding the broom or stained from dipping them in dishwater or scrubbing. No girl ever fell down an iota in the estimation of Her Hero because she stayed at home all afternoon and helped her mother with the work instead of coming downtown and putting on a parade of eight miles. No girl ever lost Her Hero because she made life more pleasant for dad and smoother the wrinkles from his brow and caused him to look forward to the evening at home with pleasure. No girl ever lost Her Hero because she wasn't an adept at using all the latest and most popular slang of the day. No girl ever lost Her Hero because she was a rattling good cook, a swell housekeeper and a stemwinder to work. If she did lose Her Hero because of any of those things, she should thank her lucky stars. He was in disguise. Instead of Her Hero he was a common cheap tin horn sport and she had better be a kitchen queen for dad and mother all her life than a broken-hearted drudge of a slave for such a brainless bat a single day. Just because a girl arrives at gray hairs and faded cheeks in single blessedness is no sign she didn't have "a chance." More likely it is because she kept posted on market values and refused to sell her heart and happiness for a mess of potage. —[Kansas City Journal.]

RAM'S HORN BROWN'S WRINKLES.

The truth we most hate is the truth that hits us hardest.

To have a foolish friend is more of a misfortune than to have a balyk mule.

Look for something to love, but try to look a little higher than a poodle dog.

The Lord has never been able to do much for a stingy man.

There is something wrong with the religion that never makes anybody look happy.

The man who serves God for gain quits when the pay stops.

There is such a thing as being right in the heart and wrong in the head.

The love that never fails is the kind that works at its trade all the year round.

Nobody gets less out of life than the chronic fault-finder.

There is always a big place waiting for the man who is faithful in a little one.

God is closer to us than any trouble can be.

If there is a skeleton in your closet, lock the door and lose the key.

Sunshine is worth more than gold, when it is real sunshine and not foxfire.

It is still about as easy to find a man who will sell his birthright for a mess of pottage as it was in the time of Esau.

A Dreadful Sight

To H. J. Barnum, of Freeville, N. Y., was the fever sore that had plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. At last he used Bucklin's Arnica Salve and wrote: "It has entirely healed with scarcely a scar left." Heals burns, boils, eczema, cuts, bruises, swellings, corns and piles like magic. Only 25¢ at James H. Williams, 214 Main street.

Detected.

"I am looking for an honest man," said Diogenes, severely.

"So am I," replied the plain citizen. "And by the way, that lantern you are carrying looks exactly like the one that was taken from my back porch."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Hartford People Know How to Save It.

Many Hartford people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers.

The following statement leaves no ground for doubt:

Mrs. A. Baur, 737 Mulberry St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be unequalled for kidney trouble and lame back. This remedy corrected the difficulty with the kidney secretions and removed the depressing headaches. I sleep much better using Doan's Kidney Pills and that languid feeling has disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HERE'S A NEW LIST OF TEN COMMANDMENTS

Upon Which Hang the Law and the Profits of the Business World.

1. Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up, but thou shalt pull off thy coat and go to work, that thou mayest prosper in thy affairs, and make the word "failure" spell "success."

2. Thou shalt not be content to go about thy business looking like a loaf, for thou shouldst know that thy personal appearance is better than a letter of recommendation.

3. Thou shalt not try to make excuses nor, shall thou say to those who chide thee, "I didn't think."

4. Thou shalt not wait to be told what thou shalt do, nor in what manner thou shalt do it, for thus may thy days be long in the job which fortune hath given thee.

5. Thou shalt not fail to maintain thine own integrity, nor shalt thou be guilty of anything that will lessen thy good respect for thyself.

6. Thou shalt not covet the other fellow's job, nor his salary, nor the position that he hath gained by his own hard labor.

7. Thou shalt not fail to live within thy income, nor shalt thou contract any debts when thou canst not see thy way clear to pay them.

8. Thou shalt not be afraid to blow thine own horn, for he who failest to blow his own horn at the proper occasion, findest nobody standing ready to blow it for him.

9. Thou shalt not hesitate to say "No" when thou meanest "No," nor shalt thou fail to remember that there are times when it is unsafe to bind thyself by a hasty judgment.

10. Thou shalt give every man a square deal. This is the last and greatest commandment, and there is no other like unto it. Upon this commandment hang all the law and profits of the business world. —[Tit Bits.]

WHY HE THOUGHT ALMS SOLICITOR A WISE GUY

In a New York street a wagon loaded with lamps collided with a truck and many of the globes were smashed. Considerable sympathy was felt for the driver as he gazed ruefully at the shattered fragments. A benevolent-looking old gentleman eyed him compassionately.

"My poor man," he said, "I suppose you will have to make good this loss out of your own pocket?" "Yep," was the melancholy reply.

"Well, well," said the philanthropic old gentleman, "hold out your hat—here's a quarter for you; and I dare say some of these other people will give you a helping hand, too."

The driver held out his hat and several persons hastened to drop coins into it. At last, when the contributions had ceased, he emptied the contents of his hat into his pocket. Then, pointing to the retreating figure of the philanthropist who had started the collection, he observed: "Say, maybe he ain't the wise guy! That's me boss!"

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA HOW TO SPELL "CALHOUN" AND THE REASON WHY

"Birl Bilbrew," writing in the Calhoun (Ky.) Star, says:

Noticing that a great deal has been said and written of late about the apparent confusion in regard to the manner of spelling the name of the city of Calhoun, the writer offers a little orthographic history.

When the town was first incorporated in 1852, and we ceased to call it Vienna, it was named by the act incorporating it "Calhoun," in honor of the late Judge John Calhoun, who spelled his name in that way.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

and as the laws of that department are like those of the Medes and Persians, which can never be changed when once made, it so remained, and a confusion in the spelling continued until the year 1872. In that year the Legislature of Kentucky passed an act entitled:

"An Act to Amend and to Reduce Into One, All the Laws Pertaining to the Town of Calhoun."

Throughout this act the name is spelled Calhoun. The act provided that everything in conflict with it was repealed, and the lawyers at the bar here at that time construed it to include even the spelling of the name. The bill was carefully prepared by the late Hon. Lloyd W. Gates, who was a son-in-law of Judge Calhoun, and it is presumed that he changed the spelling advisedly and for the sake of uniformity.

This includes both the law and the facts in regard to our orthography. Since that time the only correct way to spell the name is C-a-l-h-o-u-n.

THE USE OF A DAY.

SCARLET RED POWDER GROWS HUMAN SKIN

And the Price of the Removed Cuticle Takes a Sud-den Drop.

The market for human skin is going to pieces. Where once it commanded $25 a square inch up, it bids fair to be soon just human skin, with no value except to its original possessor. Heroic husbands, fathers, sons and sweethearts who bravely let themselves be stripped of their hides to cover some death-threatening gap on the bodies of their beloved, may soon cease to have opportunity for such devotion.

A little red powder one can get in any paintstore is astounding the surgeons with its performances as a substitute for the heroes and their skins.

Scarlet Red is its name, and a dollar's worth will keep a busy surgery in stock for months. It is mixed with vaseline or other components, as a salve, and applied to the edges of the gaping wounds.

Then you can almost see the skin grow. Dr. John Staige Davis, a noted surgeon of Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, says almost as much, but in the careful language of his profession. He tells of Scarlet Red growing new skin at the rate of three millimeters in 48 hours on one of his patients. His report on its use in Johns Hopkins Hospital, published in a medical journal, did much to bring the strange little ailment to surgical notice here and elsewhere.

It was taken up in the Post Graduate and the German Hospitals here last spring. Then its use was experimental. Now it is uniformly used in every case where burns, wounds or ulcers have stripped the epidermis from any area of a human body.

"The results have been astonishing, even baffling," said Dr. F. William Steichmann, of the Post Graduate, and also connected with the German Hospital.

"There is just one thing about its use, however, that should be generally known," Dr. Steichmann said. "Where surgeons in the dispensary have used it and applied the dressings, the results have been marvelous. Where patients have used it themselves, the results have been unsatisfactory." —[New York York Cor., Denver Republican.]

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed, and I gained 47 pounds in weight. It's surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, la-griple, asthma, croup—all throat and lung troubles. 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottle free at James H. Williams.

LOCKJAW ENDS LIFE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS

The Owensboro Messenger says: Jefferson Davis, fifty years of age, died of lockjaw at 6 o'clock Wednesday at his home on Dublin lane, after having suffered for three weeks.

Mr. Davis, about three weeks ago, was rolling a heavy whiskey barrel into the lot at the Daviess county distillery, where he had been an employee for several years, when the barrel accidentally mashed his toe. At first nothing was thought of the accident, but the injury did not heal, and it finally became necessary to amputate the toe. After the amputation, lockjaw set in, and Mr. Davis' condition had been regarded as critical for several days, death being the final result.

Mr. Davis is survived by a wife and three daughters.

A Barbed Wire Cut, Collar or Saddle Gall not properly healed leaves a disfiguring scar.

BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT

Is the Right Remedy for All Abrasions of the Flesh.

If the wound is cleansed and the liniment applied promptly, the healing process begins at once and the wound heals from the inside outward, thus forming a soft, clean, scar that leaves no scar. If the wound heals on the outside too quickly, pus forms under the surface and breaks out into a running sore that is hard to cure and inevitably leaves a bad scar.

HONOR SYSTEM ADOPTED HERE

In Dealing With Prisoners in Charge.

37 NO BOLTS AND BARS ARE USED

WE Modern Methods Are Employed in Dealing With All Delinquents.

PRISON IS INDUSTRIAL FARM

To A jail where honor is the bolt and trustworthiness the bars; where there is neither lock nor key, and where the prisoners come and go apparently of their own free will; where there are no grim-visaged buildings nor frowning walls, where the few guards employed move about in an unostentatious manner—such is the new workhouse of the District of Columbia, located in Virginia, across the river from the quaint and ancient town of Occoquan.

This penal institution is in a class by itself. There is not another one of its character in the United States. Even in its newness, with an amount of detail yet to be worked out, it is hard for the visitor to realize that he is in a place of punishment, and when all the plans of W. H. Whittaker, the superintendent, are realized, the 1,150-acre tract which Congress provided as the temporary home of Washington's lawbreakers, will more resemble the country estate of a wealthy citizen than a place of detention and correction of malefactors.

Yet the iron hand of the law is there. It may be incased in silk, but its grip is just as hard as it was in the olden days when a dungeon and bread and water were considered almost too good for those who wander from the paths of rectitude. Superintendent Whittaker is the soul of kindness and patience. He believes that in every man and woman there is good, and he is doing all in his power to bring that good to the top. But his charges must also do their share. The rules of the institution are made with the end in view that they shall be as little irksome as possible, but those rules must be obeyed, and to the letter. Infractions are punished—not by the old methods of flogging and incarceration in dark cells—as a matter of fact there is not a cell, in the true meaning of the word, in the whole place—but the offender is put on a bread and water diet and required to stand a certain number of hours handcuffed to a railing. There is no hanging up by the thumbs. The man is allowed to stand in a natural position and for no longer a period than it would require him to do a day's work. But the punishment is sufficient. The bread and water diet, when the other prisoners are enjoying three square meals a day, does the business. The most obstreperous character soon relents and promises to be good.

One of the remarkable things about the new workhouse is the opportunity given prisoners to escape—an opportunity of which, except in rare instances, they do not avail themselves. The tract of ground on which the institution is located comprises 1,150 acres. Work is being carried on in almost every section of the tract. The guards are few and far between. Prisoners drive teams about the country unaccompanied by anyone. They go from place to place alone, but, strange to say, they always show up at meal times.

Inclosing the buildings in which the prisoners eat and sleep is a barbed wire fence, and this place is called, for the sake of calling it something, the stockade. The only entrance to this stockade is guarded by a prisoner, and a one-armed prisoner at that. No guards patrol the place with rifles slung across their shoulders. The "pack of bloodhounds" which every institution is supposed to keep, consists of one dog and his principal duty in the day time seems to be fraternizing with the prisoners.

There must, of course be some reason for this peculiar state of affairs. No man, no matter how well he is treated, wants to give up his liberty and "do time" for the State. Superintendent Whittaker's answer to the problem is: "I put the men on their honor, and every man who comes down here, no matter how low he has fallen, has a certain amount of honor. I think that the liberty of an individual taken from him by process of law should be the only punishment in a penal or reformatory institution. The system in our institutions that makes the strongest appeal to the manhood of a normal subject, while confined, is the one that will bring, through his conscience, such punishment as will be lasting and effective. Three to four years' training, with the modern up-to-date methods of reformation, will redeem to society 95 per cent of all normal boys convicted of crime. Reformation in penal and reformatory institutions cannot be successful unless there is a perfect system of moral instruction, and unless all officers, instructors and teachers are living examples of true citizenship."

Mr. Whittaker is not an idealist or a dreamer. He practices what he preaches, and the fact that he is getting results proves that he knows whereof he speaks. Guards are not allowed to strike the prisoners or to swear at them. They treat them kindly, and in return expect their charges to live up to the regulations.

The officials of the institution are watching with interest an experiment Mr. Whittaker is making with one of his young charges. The youth in question was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. He had been at the place but a short time when he ran away. He was recaptured and was given a plain, straight talking to by the superintendent, who told him that he intended to give him one more chance, and he put him to the task of driving his automobile. The lad seemed to appreciate the kindness shown him, and takes as much interest in keeping the machine in good condition as does its owner. He has chances to escape every day. Mr. Whittaker says he will not avail himself of them.

"Larry" B. Finn, of Franklin, Democratic member of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, besides being a wit and fiddler, is also "some" composer of doggerel, as witness the following offense:

Come all you voters, if you want to hear
About the campaign of Judge O'Rear.
If he's elected, you'll be to blame;
At the Phoenix Hill convention, boys, he won his fame.

O'Rear walked in at the convention door,
Everybody "hollered," and began to roar;

Caleb Powers waved his hand;
flags began to float;

Most everybody there was as full as a goat.

CHORUS.
Caleb Powers waved his hand,
Caleb Powers—flags began to float;

Caleb Pows waved his hand;
Most everybody there was as full as a goat.

SECOND SPASM.
Bill Bradley was there to hear every word;

What the Judge had said, Bradley had heard;
At Lexington, the Judge at Bradley took a whack;

But Bradley said the Judge would have to take it back.

The Judge began to speak, and as spoke,

Everybody knew what he said was a joke,

Bradley was elected without a single sou,

"Twas the purest election that I ever knew."

CHORUS.
Bradley's election, without a single sou;

Bradley's election—"purest I ever knew;"

Bradley's election, without a single sou;

"Great God!" said the woodcock, and away he flew.

THIRD SPASM.

Judge O'Rear said, when McCreary had won,

"There are two more races I'd like to run."

Caleb said, "What might they be?"

O'Rear said, "Coroner and School Trustee."

But the Judge's fame will ne'er be forgot;

He's almost like a forget-me-not;

His virtues will be sung in lasting tones,

He's just another hero like Casey Jones.

CHORUS.

Judge O'Rear, just another hero;

Judge O'Rear—like Casey Jones.

Judge O'Rear, just another hero;

He's just another hero like Casey Jones.

VARIOUS POPES WHO HAVE RULED

Since Time of Pope Clements in Year 91.

ARE ONLY 78 DIFFERENT NAMES
In the Long List, While There
Have Been Exactly
263 Prelates.

FOUR POPES IN FIRST CENTURY

Pope Pius X. is counted the two hundred and sixty-third prelate to occupy that highest ecclesiastical office.

While there have been 263 Popes, there are only 78 different names in the list. Twenty-three bore the name of Joannes, 16 that of Gregorius, 14 Clements, 14 Benedict, 13 Leo, 13 Innocent, 10 Pius, 10 Stephen, 9 Boniface, 8 Alexander and 8 Urban.

There have been six Popes named Hadrian, while each of the names Paul Sixtus, Nicholas, Martin and Coelestine has been borne by five Popes. There were four Eugenes, four Honores and four named Anastasius. Four others were named Sergius and four more Felix.

The names that appear three times in the list are Julius, Gallius, Lucius and Victor. The names that appear only twice are Marcellus, Gelasius, Pashalls, Demasius, Sylvester, Agapetus, Marinus, Theodorus, Constantine and Pelagius.

Plus I. became Pope in 142. More than 13 centuries passed before there was another Pope of that name, but only four and a half centuries lie between Plus II. and Plus X.

Although there have been 10 Stephens, there has been none since 1057. All the 23 Popes who were named Joannes ruled the church between 523 and 1410, an average of nearly three to a century.

Pope Clemens I. appeared in 11. The last Pope of that name, Clements XIV., appeared in 1769. There were more than 14 centuries between Leo I. and Leo XIII.

There were only four Popes in the first century. The lowest number in any one century since then was in the nineteenth—six. There were 25 in the tenth and 20 each in the seventh and ninth. The eleventh century had 19 and the thirteenth and sixteenth had 17 each.

The Popes of the twelfth century numbered 16; third, 15; eighth, 14; fifteenth, 13; sixth and fourteenth, 12 each; fifth and fourteenth, 12 each; seventeenth, 11; second and fourth, 10 each, while the eighteenth had 8.

Pope Plus IX. was in power 31 years, the longest of all, while some of his predecessors held the reins only a few days.—[New York World.]

KANSAS CORN—SOME UNLIKELY SPECIMENS

William Allen White, the Kansas writer, at a picnic in Emporia, was praising the fertility of his native State.

"It was a Kansas boy, you know," said Dr. White, "who tried to climb a cornstalk the other day to see how the corn was getting on. Unfortunately the stalk is growing faster than the boy can climb, and he is now out of sight."

"A lot of neighbors with axes have been trying to cut the stalk down, but it grows so fast they can't strike twice in the same place."

"It was feared for awhile that the boy would starve to death, but I am happy to say that over the private wire in my office we have got news to the effect that the little chap has already thrown down five bushels of cobs; whence one may infer that his diet, though monotonous, is adequate."—[Los Angeles Times.]

*The Hartford HeraldFREE TRAVELING HEALTH EXHIBIT CAR IS COMING

Will Be in Hartford Friday and Saturday, September 22 and 23—See It.

A modern railroad passenger passenger coach fitted up as a Traveling Health Exhibit by the Kentucky Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, is now touring the State of Kentucky, making stops at all railroad stations.

At each stopping place the public is invited to see the exhibit, free of charge, and hear practical talks about Consumption and other infectious diseases. The car is well stocked with novel Charts, Mottoes and Model Houses showing where the dangers from diseases lie and how they can be prevented, in a way that every man, woman and child can understand it.

The Exhibit is in charge of Mr. Eugene Kerner, Secretary of the State Association, and assistant. Mr. Kerner will deliver an Illustrated Lecture on "What Everybody Ought to Know About Consumption" at each stopping place.

Wherever shown, the Exhibit has attracted large crowds of people who were greatly benefited in getting a clear understanding of Kentucky's most fatal disease, The Great White Plague.

In Hartford, Friday, Sept. 22 to Saturday, Sept. 23.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION TO MEET SEPTEMBER 26

The Sunday School Union of the Ohio County Baptist Association will meet with Clear Run church, Tuesday, Sept. 26th, at 9 a. m. There will be no set program nor assigned speakers, but all are expected to speak of their needs and successes in the work—an old-fashioned experience meeting. The people of Clear Run have furnished three basket dinners this season, so ALL are requested to bring only a light lunch for the noon hour. Every church and school is requested to announce this meeting next Sunday and make arrangements for their messengers. This will be the time to elect officers. We urge all schools to make their plans to have their schools run through the winter.

GREEN BRIER.

Sept. 18.—From present indications there will be more than the usual crop of wheat sown in this section.

Quarterly meeting was held last Sunday at East Providence church. Quite a large crowd was present and a most excellent and edifying sermon was preached by the presiding elder, Rev. Thompson, after which a collection was taken, resulting in enough money being raised to pay off all debts for this conference year.

Rev. Birch Shields, assisted by Rev. S. H. Lawrence, will begin a revival meeting at Independence church to-night. Rev. Shields recently closed a very successful meeting at Cool Springs.

Hon. John B. Wilson and family, of Hartford, visited his father, Mr. L. M. Wilson, and other relatives in this community from Friday until Sunday of last week.

Mr. M. N. Shultz and wife had the pleasure of entertaining Revs. Thompson and Bennett on last Saturday night.

School at this place is progressing nicely under charge of Prof. E. S. Howard.

The prospects for Democratic victory in November grow brighter as the days go by, and especially since the "O'Rear Lecture" was pulled off in Hartford on Labor Day.

Verily, it would seem that if what he gave us on that occasion is to be taken as a sample, it would be the part of wisdom for him to withdraw from the race and join a debating society, composed of fifth and sixth grade pupils, rather than be running around over the State begging the voters to do a very foolish thing by electing "h-i-m" Governor of the State. Bah! No! Kentuckians have at times stood for much but they will never stand for that. No! Never! Democrats, do your duty and let's make it not twenty, but fifty thousand majority for the white ticket.

The writer wishes to express the thanks and appreciation of the young folks from in and near the Mines, who on last Saturday evening were so royally entertained on the base ball ground at Hartford. It seemed that each and every patron of the game in our dear old county-seat was striving to see who could show us the greatest courtesy and give us the most hearty hand-shake, for which our boys and their friends are profoundly grateful. We would especially thank Profs. Hedrick and Anderson, who seemed to use as much energy and enthusiasm in showing us welcome as they did in encouraging their boys to send their visitors home defeated. Our boys came home a little crestfallen, "defeated but not disgraced," but are consoling themselves with the thought of the old proverb: "He that laughs last, laughs best." Truly it was, a day that will be long remembered by eighteen happy-hearted, athletic schoolboys and we would suggest to them that if they will always put the same energy and vim in all their undertakings in life, success is sure to crown their efforts.

THE GROWERS ARE TO MEET IN OWENSBORO

October 5 to Hear Report of Secretary—Important Session in Prospect.

There will be county meetings held in Ohio, Hancock, Daviess, McLean and Spencer county, Indiana, on Saturday, September 30, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the district meeting of the Green River Tobacco Growers' Association, to be held in Owensboro, Thursday, October 5.

This will be one of the most important and interesting meetings held this season, as it will be the last meeting before the regular time for selling the pooled crop, which generally takes place about November 1.

Secretary Walter Atherton will make his general report of the amount of tobacco pooled with the association throughout the district, the time for pooling having closed on August 31. The report will show an increase in all the counties, except Ohio and McLean, over previous years, and in these two counties the same amount of tobacco was pooled as last year.

The late tobacco has been benefited by the rains, and unless frost comes too soon, will make as much per acre as usual, notwithstanding the drought earlier in the season. Too much rain, however, will prove injurious to the early tobacco, as a great amount of the weed is still standing in the field, and ready to be cut, but if the rain continues, the bottom leaves, which are overripe, will begin dropping off and will be of no value.

HUNTING NOW BARRED FOR ANY SORT OF GAME

The hunting season on all sorts of game, including, rabbits and squirrels, closed last Saturday. The quail season begins on November 15. A few years ago the Legislature passed a law prohibiting hunting of any kind during the two months immediately preceding the open season for quail. This was done because many people would go out hunting under the pretext of killing rabbits, squirrels, etc., and would also kill quail before the law was passed, and it is now regarded as prima facie evidence of guilt to even be caught in the field with dog and gun during these two months.

Reports from the country indicate that there will be a big crop of quail this year, the spring and early summer months being unusually dry, thus giving the young birds a chance to grow up and not be drowned out, as is so often the case. Squirrels and rabbits are thick and the coming hunting season promises to be the best in years.

The nut crop is also reported to be the largest in several years, which means Mr. Squirrel and family will have a big stock of food for the winter season.
